CANDIDATE WINS BY 4

Two votes elected George B. Bartlett to another term as president of the village board, over his opponent, Bernard Naber, candidate on the Jeffersonian ticket, in the election held today which returned the incumbent officials running for re-election to office.

All seven candidates filed on the Citizens' ticket were re-elected with the eighth village vacancy going to Mrs. Marion Willie Rigby, candidate on the Jeffersonian ticket for director of the library board. Mrs. Rigby defeated Mrs. William Anderson, write-in candidate supported by the Citizens.

Will Not Ask for Recount
Although he was defeated by only two votes, Bernard Naber states that he will not ask for a recount. Mr. Naber, when questioned said, "Certainly not. The votes have been counted and the election is decided."

A total of 233 votes were polled by Mr. Bartlett out of 489 votes cast in the election. The votes cast for Mr. Naber totaled 236.

Trustees re-elected are Charles Lux and J. B. Drom, incumbent members of the board, and James B. Stearns, running in place of H. P. Lowry, who is retiring. Laurel Powles won the contest for village treasurer, defeating Frank Huber, Jeffersonian candidate, and Nelson F. Drom, Independent.

For police magistrate, J. C. James was re-elected receiving a large plurality over George E. Phillips, Jeffersonian candidate, and the two Independents, John N. Paeal and Thomas E. Burnett.

William Gets Large Vote
The largest vote for director of the library board was polled by Dr. B. D. Williams, a charter member of the board, Mrs. Rigby coming in second.

Except for the contest for president, the winning candidates were given their victories by a margin of 50 to more than a hundred votes. The complete tabulation, with the candidates listed as they placed is as follows:

For President
George B. Bartlett	233
Bernard Naber	236
For Trustee
James Stearns	204
Charles Lux	257
J. B. Drom	256
John L. Horan	182
Frank J. Hunt	159
Frank Hardin	169

For Village Treasurer
Laurel Powles	236
Frank B. Huber	129

Thomas E. Burnett	65

For Library Director
R. D. Williams	314
Marion Willie Rigby	156
Lotus Somerville	117
Rosabelle Anderson	50

Out of the 489 total ballots cast, only one was thrown out because it was improperly marked. Fifty-five ballots voting a straight Citizens' ticket were cast and fifty-one which voted a straight Jeffersonian ticket. Except for Stearns, who will replace Lowry, the village board will remain the same. Mr. Lowry has been a member of the board for several terms. He was urged to run this year but refused saying that he believed it was someone else's turn to serve.

Amundsen Defeated
George H. Hollister, of Fox Lake, who had hopes of retiring as the head of the village, won a four-vote victory over a supposedly unopposed candidate, Arthur J. Amundsen, in the village election Tuesday.

The movement to re-elect Hollister started last Thursday when Fox Lake residents decided to write his name in on the ballot. The final tally disclosed 309 votes for Hollister and 305 for Amundsen. There were 44 ballots for Hollister that were

DAYLIGHT SAVING
TIME ORDINANCE
PASSED BY BOARDPetition Circulated Against Measure: Lake Villa
Adopts Time

An ordinance establishing daylight saving time beginning at 2 o'clock on the morning of May 7 was passed at the meeting of the village board held Tuesday night at the village hall. The ordinance was passed following a straw vote in which eighty-eight more votes were cast in favor of the measure than were cast against it.

A total of 267 votes were cast for daylight saving time in the election and 173 votes were cast in opposition to the measure. The straw vote was held in conjunction with the village election Tuesday.

A petition against the adoption of daylight saving time is being circulated by Fred B. Swanson, president of the Chamber of Commerce and owner of the Antioch Theatre.

Board Was Opposed
George Bartlett, president of the board, when questioned this morning as to what action would be taken in regard to the petition, stated that a popular vote was taken, and he did not think it would be advisable to go against the wishes of the voters. The board members were personally against the ordinance, Mr. Bartlett stated, although the ordinance was unanimously passed.

Business men who have signed the petition are S. H. Reeves, Charles N. Lux, Chase Webb, W. R. Williams, Frank Powles, William Keulman and H. M. Radtke. The petition was started by Mr. Swanson Wednesday before he learned that the board had already adopted the ordinance. Mr. Swanson states that the voters will remain on standard time even though daylight saving time does go into effect.

The petition being circulated by Mr. Swanson reads as follows:

We, the undersigned, representing the business and professional interests of the Village of Antioch, believe that the adoption of the so-called Daylight Saving Time schedule for the village would result in a great inconvenience to patrons of Antioch institutions and a consequent financial loss to business and professional firms, hereby petition the Village President and Board of Trustees to take no official action that would put into effect said proposed time change; but that the Village continue to operate on Central Standard Time.

Lake Villa for Measure
The community of Lake Villa on Tuesday held a poll on the advisability of adopting daylight saving time, starting Sunday, April 30, conforming to most other towns in the Chicago metropolitan area. The unofficial vote was 74 to 8, and the village board will follow that mandate.

NEW NATIONAL TEA
STORE TO OPEN
HERE FRIDAYAdda Meat Department;
Sorenson Grocery
ManagerLARGEST FOOD STORE
IN LAKE REGION

Issuing its challenge to the prevailing business depression, the National Tea Co. is continuing its policy of expansion with the establishing of a new World's Fair National Tea Co. super food store at 939 Main St., Antioch, Illinois, which will be opened to the public Friday. This World's Fair Store is the result of remodeling activities which have taken place during the last few weeks.

Believed by food merchandising experts to be a fine accomplishment in the chain grocery field, this model World's Fair super food store, it is predicted, will be acclaimed by housewives. Such modern developments as a garden-like fruit and vegetable department, refrigerated meat department, arrangement of merchandise on open shelves which are illuminated by scientific arrangement of lighting equipment, are features of the store.

Service Type Store
This World's Fair store marks a further advancement in that it is of the service type. The customer will receive speedy and courteous attention from trained grocers, produce experts and butchers and yet will not be delayed since the arrangement of the store is such as to facilitate rapid shopping.

The reopening of this store was stressed by company officials as a gesture for relieving unemployment through the clerks who will be employed and the tradesmen who have been given work in getting this World's Fair store ready for its opening Friday.

Sorenson, Grocery Manager
Supervising the new store are A. S. Kreller and N. E. Corydon, while Sam Sorenson will be retained in charge of the grocery department, and Paul Gaenther, Sr. and Paul Gaenther, Jr., formerly of the Antioch Packing company, will manage the meat department.

Phenomenal growth has marked the career of the Antioch store, which was established five years ago with Mr. Sorenson as manager. For the last three years the Company has felt the need for more display space and added facilities. The new location not only fills the needs in those respects but enables the Company to justly claim the largest food store in the lake region.

Although this unit of the extensive National chain offers superior shopping conveniences, in gathering a greater variety of food together than is usual, it was made clear that its prices will be on the same economy basis as other stores now in operation.

ELECTION RESULTS

Another village election has become a matter of history, this year distinguished by the interest which was awakened by the two tickets filed and by the close race run by the two candidates for president of the board.

Both George Bartlett and Bernard Nabor may be proud of the records they made in the election, for each has the satisfaction of knowing that he was opposed by a man of acknowledged calibre. Mr. Bartlett enters upon another term at the head of the board, forearmed with the assurance that his policies have met with approval from the voters.

At the same time, Mr. Nabor, reviewing the results of the election, has every reason to be satisfied that he has a large number of loyal friends. The fact that both candidates have marked ability along the lines of municipal government, made the choice difficult for the voters.

The defeat of the Jeffersonian ticket and the three independent candidates, seems to indicate more than anything else that the voters approve the present administration. It is obvious from a count of the vote that other candidates on the ballot had their supporters.

The re-election of all officeholders entered for another term is an appropriate tribute for the work which these officials have done. The present board has given conservative and constructive service to the village.

With the May meeting the board will lose H. P. Lowry, who has given valued service for several years. Mr. Lowry deserves his retirement, although his many friends on the board and among the townspeople will be sorry that the genial diplomat is no longer a member of the body.

James Stearns, who will replace him, has already shown his interest in village affairs as chief of the James Dunn, village treasurer this past term, and Mrs. H. J. Brogan, director of the library board are the other two retiring officials who have given loyal service. Mr. Dunn could not run for re-election because the law stipulates that a treasurer cannot serve two successive terms. Mrs. Brogan had served on the library board for the past five years.

Those who are not acquainted with their village officials, are always welcome to attend the meetings held at the village hall. Trustees and Mr. Bartlett have repeatedly insisted that they are eager to have the voters appear at these meetings, air their grievances and become acquainted with the policies and activities of the body.

BOOST YOUR OWN TOWN

You should not have to be asked to boost your town. You should do it without the asking.

You should boost morning, noon and night, always remembering that your town deserves boosting.

You should always remember there are two sides to every question. You might be on the wrong side; if so, don't hesitate—get on the right side!

Don't postpone work for your town. Do your share in developing the opportunities before you.

The citizens of your town are sort of related. As a unit they are responsible for what work is done and what is left undone.

The mark of a good citizen is his willingness to do that which will be a help to the home town without regard as to whether or not it is personally agreeable to him. However, the knowledge that he is helping the home town should make it agreeable.—Ex.

IS BUSINESS PICKING UP?

Is business picking up? A number of encouraging signs last week would indicate that it is. To cite a few, corn rose 5 cents, rye 6 cents, and spot wheat had a 5 cent rise. Seats on the Board of Trade were up $2,000. All of which are temporary signs.

But authorities who watch the trend of business with a careful eye have listed a number of basic indications that business is reviving and taking on the color of health. Among them are the following upturns: Carloadings were up 18,000 cars. This was the fourth successive week to show a rise.

The increase in car sales indicates that April, 1933, will be a better month than April, 1932.

Bank debits for individual accounts were up 29 per cent for the week.

SCHOLARSHIP EXAMS CHANGED, PETTY SAYS

University of Illinois Has
New Basis of Testing
Knowledge

When Lake County candidates for the University of Illinois four year scholarship write the competitive examination at Waukegan on Saturday, June 3, they will be examined on a materially different basis than in the past, County Superintendent of Schools W. C. Petty announced here today. The winner of the examination, providing a passing is made, is awarded the scholarship.

This year the examination will be given in two parts. All candidates must write an English composition and literature test. This is an objective type of examination covering the usual high school course in English. This part of the test begins at 9 a. m., June 3, in the office of the County Superintendent of Schools, and two hours will be allowed to finish it. It will count as 60 per cent in the total examination result.

In the afternoon from 1:15 to 4:15 p. m., the candidates may choose any one of the following four fields on which to write: mathematics, foreign language, science, or social studies.

The mathematics test will cover first year algebra and plane geometry. In foreign languages, the candidate must write on two years of work in one of the following: Latin, German, French, or Spanish.

In the field of science the candidate must write on any two of the following six sections, except that botany and zoology may not be offered in combination with biology: chemistry, physics, botany, zoology, biology, or general science.

Under social studies, he must write on two subjects, one of which must be history, or both may be history. The social science sections are: American history, Ancient and Medieval history, Modern history, economics and civics, civics and commercial geography, or commercial geography and economics.

The examination is open to all pupils graduating this year from accredited high schools in this county, and to graduates of earlier years who have not continued their education beyond the secondary schools. The scholarship, which one may win, exempts the holder from payment of all fees for instruction except laboratory fees. The total value of the scholarship for the four year period is about $290.

Mr. Petty urges all eligible high school boys and girls in this county who are planning to go to the University to take this examination. He believes that any student who has a good record in high school should be able to pass the examination. Also, he cautions that the examination itself does not give extra credit for admission to the University.

Mr. Petty will be glad to give further information regarding this examination.

Of all the delinquent boys brought before the juvenile court in Chicago, nearly 40 per cent are from broken homes.

Events leading up to the kidnapping of Sylvia Webster by Chuck Mayo have caused much comment in the neighborhood of late.

Tom Arsdale was in a terrible predicament because it was commencement time at the Middle-Western College which he was attending, and his father and Aunt Caroline are coming to enjoy the week-end festivities, bringing with them Sylvia Webster, the home town girl whom Father insists Tom must marry. Tom's roommate, Oke Stimson, who is always ready with advice for the loveless, decides to help his pal out by finding him a girl whom he can introduce to the family as his fiancée. He asks the girl who poses as "Birdie LaVerne"—the maid of all work—and she accepts. There is a mystery about "Birdie" because there is no other girl in town by that name—a "would-be" movie star. You will be surprised to learn who "Birdie" really is. Trouble begins with the arrival of the family when "Birdie" unexpectedly walks in and Tom introduces her as his fiancée. Aunt Caroline takes charge of the situation and packs the boys off to the hotel to stay with Father while she and the girls stay at the apartment. As there is a big masquerade that night, Aunt Caroline asks "Birdie" to come and dress there. She also asks Peaches Carter—Oke's girl of the moment—to come. Aunt Caroline is especially interested in looking young as she has fallen in love with the Dean of the College. The plot begins to develop when Sylvia becomes jealous of "Birdie" and to spite Tom falls in love with Alfred Teunissen Murgatoyd, the class poet. Then Chuck appears on the scene in search of his girl, Birdie LaVerne—the movie star. Father, thinking that "Birdie" is Chuck's girl, shows him the girls' costumes for the masquerade. Chuck decides that the only way to get Birdie is to kidnap her and says that "nobody ain't going to get my girl while I got my health." Sylvia and "Birdie" change costumes—Chuck kidnaps the wrong girl—nude—. If you would like to learn the results, the mystery will be solved at the play.

Always hovering in the background is dear old Asma, the colored wash-lady, who watches over the boys.

CENTURY OF PROGRESS
EXHIBIT WILL UNFOLD
HISTORY OF ELECTRICITYTwenty-five Centuries of Development of Power
Reviewed

The history of electricity and the story of how it is remaking our world, from the countryside farm to the great cities, will be told by the electric light and power industry exhibit at A Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago this summer.

When Thales of the ancient town of Miletus, who lived six centuries before Christ, found that rubbing amber would make it attract particles of various materials, he made the first recorded experiment with electricity. Twenty-five centuries later our own Thomas A. Edison brought to fruition all the previous discoveries about electricity made through the centuries that separated him from Thales of Miletus. Yet Edison's electric lamps and dynamos began the era of electric service as it is known today.

How electricity is made from water power and coal, how it is sent across country high in the air on tower lines and underground in cities, how it is distributed to homes, farms and factories—all this will be shown by a working model 90 feet long, the largest diorama ever built. Miniature turbines and towers, skyscrapers and farms, flowing streams, animated machinery, hills and mountains are being built by approximately 500 skilled artisans working from precise plans of the diorama.

Another exhibit shows the forerunners of modern electrical machinery. There will be models of such devices as the crude steam turbine made by Hero of Alexandria in the first century A. D., the Edison dynamo and the steam engine James Watt developed from watching a tea kettle.

There will also be exhibits showing the most advanced applications of electricity to homes, industries, stores, farms, hospitals, schools and commerce. Such devices as the "magnetic brain" for controlling furnace temperatures, the "electric eye" that can sort colors, and a hospital operating room designed for television transmission to distant students will be shown.

Many Breeds of Dogs—How to Feed Setters

Nearly every human being is interested in dogs. No other animal is so friendly, so understanding, so pleasant to have about as a good dog. Many varieties of dogs have been developed. New breeds are announced nearly every few years. Older breeds are improved.

In the large dog shows often as many as a hundred different breeds are represented, varying in size from the giant Saint Bernard, weighing around 250 pounds, to the tiny Chihuahua. There are long-legged dogs, heavily furred, black, white, tan, orange, or lemon. Irish Setters are a little more high-strung in disposition. When well-trained, they are excelled as hunting and field dogs. Their color is a rich golden chestnut, no trace of black.

The Gordon Setter in the bottom illustration was originally more delicate in structure than either the English or Irish Setter. He has now been bred to a sturdiness necessary for a hunting dog. The males will reach a height of 22 to 25 inches; females slightly less. His color is coal black with tan straight-haired, and some with hardly any hair at all. How to tell different markings of rich chestnut and mahogany red.

All setters should be kept hard and in good condition. It is bad practice to allow them to become fat and lazy. The most effective method for keeping valuable hunting dogs in condition is to eliminate all chances for germ infection by controlling their feed sources. A standard dog food that comes in dry checker form, where every unit of nutrient is under perfect control both as to rich vitamin content and to freedom from contamination, is the method followed by the more successful dog owners. Dog food in checker form is less likely to feed, keeps indefinitely without spoiling, and does not need to be supplemented with other foods.

The English Setter is the largest and strongest of the setters. His eye in checker form is less likely to feed, keeps indefinitely without spoiling, and does not need to be supplemented with other foods.

ELECTION RESULTS

Another village election has become a matter of history, this year distinguished by the interest which was awakened by the two tickets filed and by the close race run by the two candidates for president of the board.

Both George Bartlett and Bernard Nabor may be proud of the records they made in the election, for each has the satisfaction of knowing that he was opposed by a man of acknowledged calibre. Mr. Bartlett enters upon another term at the head of the board, forearmed with the assurance that his policies have met with approval from the voters.

At the same time, Mr. Nabor, reviewing the results of the election, has every reason to be satisfied that he has a large number of loyal friends. The fact that both candidates have marked ability along the lines of municipal government, made the choice difficult for the voters.

The defeat of the Jeffersonian ticket and the three independent candidates, seems to indicate more than anything else that the voters approve the present administration. It is obvious from a count of the vote that other candidates on the ballot had their supporters.

The re-election of all officeholders entered for another term is an appropriate tribute for the work which these officials have done. The present board has given conservative and constructive service to the village.

With the May meeting the board will lose H. P. Lowry, who has given valued service for several years. Mr. Lowry deserves his retirement, although his many friends on the board and among the townspeople will be sorry that the genial diplomat is no longer a member of the body.

James Stearns, who will replace him, has already shown his interest in village affairs as chief of the James Dunn, village treasurer this past term, and Mrs. H. J. Brogan, director of the library board are the other two retiring officials who have given loyal service. Mr. Dunn could not run for re-election because the law stipulates that a treasurer cannot serve two successive terms. Mrs. Brogan had served on the library board for the past five years.

Those who are not acquainted with their village officials, are always welcome to attend the meetings held at the village hall. Trustees and Mr. Bartlett have repeatedly insisted that they are eager to have the voters appear at these meetings, air their grievances and become acquainted with the policies and activities of the body.

BOOST YOUR OWN TOWN

You should not have to be asked to boost your town. You should do it without the asking.

You should boost morning, noon and night, always remembering that your town deserves boosting.

You should always remember there are two sides to every question. You might be on the wrong side; if so, don't hesitate—get on the right side!

Don't postpone work for your town. Do your share in developing the opportunities before you.

The citizens of your town are sort of related. As a unit they are responsible for what work is done and what is left undone.

The mark of a good citizen is his willingness to do that which will be a help to the home town without regard as to whether or not it is personally agreeable to him. However, the knowledge that he is helping the home town should make it agreeable—Ex.

IS BUSINESS PICKING UP?

Is business picking up? A number of encouraging signs last week would indicate that it is. To cite a few, corn rose 5 cents, rye 6 cents, and spot wheat had a 5 cent rise. Seats on the Board of Trade were up $2,000. All of which are temporary signs.

But authorities who watch the trend of business with a careful eye have listed a number of basic indications that business is reviving and taking on the color of health. Among them are the following upturns: Carloadings were up 18,000 cars. This was the fourth successive week to show a rise.

The increase in car sales indicates that April, 1933, will be a better month than April, 1932.

Bank debits for individual accounts were up 29 per cent for the week.

Events leading up to the kidnapping of Sylvia Webster by Chuck Mayo have caused much comment in the neighborhood of late.

Tom Ardale was in a terrible predicament because it was commencement time at the Middle-Western College which he was attending, and his father and Aunt Caroline are coming to enjoy the week-end festivities, bringing with them Sylvia Webster, the home town girl whom Father insists Tom must marry. Tom's roommate, Oke Stinson, who is always ready with advice for the lovelorn, decides to help his pal out by finding him a girl whom he can introduce to the family as his fiancée. He asks the girl who poses as "Birdie LaVerne"—the maid of all work—and she accepts. There is a mystery about "Birdie" because there is another girl in town by that name—a "would-be" movie star. You will be surprised to learn who "Birdie" really is. Trouble begins with the arrival of the family when "Birdie" unexpectedly walks in and Tom introduces her as his fiancée. Aunt Caroline takes charge of the situation and packs the boys off to the hotel to stay with Father while she and the girls stay at the apartment. As there is a big masquerade that night, Aunt Caroline asks "Birdie" to come and dress there. She also asks Peaches Carter—Oke's girl of the moment—to come. Aunt Caroline is especially interested in looking young as she has fallen in love with the Dean of the College. The plot begins to develop when Sylvia becomes jealous of "Birdie" and to spite Tom falls in love with Alfred Tennyson Murgatoyd, the class poet. Then Chuck appears on the scene in search of his girl, Birdie LaVerne—the movie star. Father, thinking that "Birdie" is Chuck's girl, shows him the girls' costumes for the masquerade. Chuck decides that the only way to get Birdie is to kidnap her and says that "nobody ain't going to get my girl until I got my health."

Sylvia and "Birdie" change costumes—Chuck kidnaps the wrong girl—and—If you would like to learn the results, the mystery will be solved at the play.

Always hovering in the background is dear old Asma, the colored wash-lady, who watches over the boys.

SCHOLARSHIP EXAMS CHANGED, PETTY SAYS

University of Illinois Has New Basis of Testing Knowledge

When Lake County candidates for the University of Illinois four-year scholarship write the competitive examination at Waukegan on Saturday, June 3, they will be examined on a materially different basis than in the past, County Superintendent of Schools W. C. Petty announced here today. The winner of the examination, providing a passing is made, is awarded the scholarship.

This year the examination will be given in two parts. All candidates must write an English composition and literature test. This is an objective type of examination covering the usual high school course in English. This part of the test begins at 9 a. m., June 3, in the office of the County Superintendent of Schools, and two hours will be allowed to finish it. It will count as 60 per cent in the total examination result.

In the afternoon from 1:15 to 4:15 p. m., the candidates may choose any one of the following four fields on which to write: mathematics, foreign language, science, or social studies.

The mathematics test will cover first year, algebra and plane geometry. In foreign languages, the candidate must write on two years of work in one of the following: Latin, German, French, or Spanish.

In the field of science the candidate must write on any two of the following six sections, except that botany and zoology may not be offered in combination with biology: chemistry, physics, botany, zoology, biology, or general science.

Under social studies, he must write on two subjects, one of which must be history, or both may be history. The social science sections are: American history, Ancient and Medieval history, Modern history, economics and civics, civics and commercial geography, or commercial geography and economics.

The examination is open to all pupils graduating this year from accredited high schools in this county, and to graduates of earlier years who have not continued their education beyond the secondary schools. The scholarship, which one may win, exempts the holder from payment of all fees for instruction except laboratory fees. The total value of the scholarship for the four year period is about $290.

Mr. Petty urges all eligible high school boys and girls in this county who are planning to go to the University to take this examination. He believes that any student who has a good record in high school should be able to pass the examination. Also, he cautions that the examination itself does not give extra credit for admission to the University.

Mr. Petty will be glad to give further information regarding this examination.

Of all the delinquent boys brought before the juvenile court in Chicago, nearly 40 per cent are from broken homes.

Many Breeds of Dogs—How to Feed Setters

Nearly every human being is interested in dogs. No other animal is so friendly, so understanding, so pleasant to have about as a good dog. Many varieties of dogs have been developed. New breeds are announced nearly every few years. Older breeds are improved.

In the large dog shows often as many as a hundred different breeds are represented, varying in size from the giant Saint Bernard, weighing around 250 pounds, to the tiny Chihuahua. There are long-legged dogs, short-legged dogs, heavily furred, black, white, tan, orange, or lemon. Irish Setters are a little more high-strung in disposition. When well-trained, they are unexcelled as hunting and field dogs. Their color is a rich golden chestnut, no trace of black.

The Gordon Setter in the bottom illustration was originally more delicate in structure than either the English or Irish Setter. He has now been bred to a sturdiness necessary for a hunting dog. The males will reach a weight of 22 to 25 inches; females slightly less. His color is coal black with tan straight-haired, and some with hardly any hair at all. How to tell different dogs apart and to note the characteristics that differentiate one from the other is an interesting study. Through the courtesy of Purina Mills' Educational Division, we are able to present a series of most interesting photographs of breeds of dogs. In the accompanying illustrations are shown three types of Setters, among the most popular of our hunting dogs. The top illustration shows an English Setter, the center one, an Irish Setter, and the bottom a Gordon Setter.

The English Setter is the largest and strongest of the Setters. His entire make-up shows power to gallop with ease through a hard day's work. Color may be any combination of markings of rich chestnut and mahogany red.

All Setters should be kept hard and in good condition. It is bad practice to allow them to become fat and lazy. The most effective method for keeping valuable hunting dogs in condition is to eliminate all chances for germ infection by controlling their food sources. A standard dog food that comes in dry checker form, where every unit of nutrient is under perfect control both as to rich vitamin content and to freedom from contamination, is the method followed by the more successful dog owners. Dog food in checker form is less likely to feed, keeps indefinitely without spoiling, and does not need to be supplemented with other foods.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Doctrine of Atonement" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, April 16.

The Golden Text was, "There is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus" (1 Timothy 2:5).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "For this is the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel after those days, saith the Lord; I will put my laws into their mind, and write them in their hearts; and I will be to them a God, and they shall be to me a people" (Hebrews 8:10).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "We acknowledge Jesus' atonement as the evidence of divine, efficacious Love, unfolding man's unity with God through Christ Jesus the Way-shower; and we acknowledge that man is saved through Christ, through Truth, Life, and Love as demonstrated by the Galilean Prophet to healing the sick and overcoming sin and death" (p. 497).

CHOOSING FOODS WISELY

By ADELAIDE SPOHN, Ph. D.

Nutritionist of the Elizabeth McCormick Memorial Fund and Director of Nutrition Service, Illinois Emergency Relief Commission.

Our Most Nearly Perfect Food

That a liberal quantity of milk taken daily will contribute toward prolonging life and preserving the characteristics of youth is an interesting fact that is perhaps not widely known. Of course almost everyone knows that for what is commonly referred to as "good health" children should have a quart of milk each day if possible and adults at least a pint, but it is well to remember that for excellent health as compared to merely passable health, adults should take more than a pint daily either as a beverage or in cooking. Experiments with children show also that a quart of milk a day not only improves children's general physical health but also tends to increase their mental alertness and to improve their dispositions.

All this is, naturally, good news to the housewife for the task of feeding the family is tremendously simplified when we know that it is possible without any cooking or special preparation to pour out a glass of milk for each member of the family three times a day or oftener and be assured that they are receiving one of the most nutritious and economical foods we can give them. It is rarely that the easy thing is also the right thing, but in this case it is so.

The preparation of the other foods in the day's menu is also made much easier when we have at hand milk and the other dairy products. We never miss the water till the well runs dry and we would probably more truly appreciate how much we depend on the dairy products if we were suddenly confronted with the task of creating three appetizing, nutritious meals every day without their aid.

Milk serves to improve the flavor of other foods; it makes them go further; helps to make other foods more nearly complete; increases the energy value of vegetables; and supplies to cereals some of the minerals in which they are lacking.

The fact that milk gives the best food value for the money and that there is absolutely no waste to it are two further advantages that the housewife values, especially just at this time. Even sour milk can be easily utilized. Many recipes specifically require it and in any case it can be substituted for sweet milk in cooking by using the same amount of sour milk as sweet in the recipe and adding ½ teaspoon of soda for each cup of milk and subtracting half of the baking powder called for in the original recipe.

Buttermilk is a good old-fashioned drink that is again coming into popularity because of its pleasing taste as well as its beneficial effect on the digestion.

Since milk has such a direct effect on health it has also a great deal to do with our appearance. As a beauty treatment it probably is of most importance in building strong, healthy teeth and controlling weight. Milk is indispensable in the reducing diet for it contains most of the elements necessary for a well-balanced diet. It is a relatively low-calorie food and in itself is not fattening. Probably it is because of milk's wealth of minerals and vitamins that people have come to think of it as a "rich" food. It is rich, but not in producing excess fat.

With the general return to simpler ways of living, it is natural that we should return also to these basic foods which have nourished the human race since the beginning of time. Present conditions, which have forced nutritionists to discover the very cheapest possible way people can eat and still maintain life and health have caused them to rediscover that in the final analysis the dietary should be built around bread and milk—bread for carbohydrates and some minerals; milk for calcium, phosphorus, the most easily used proteins and the necessary vitamins. Any cereal product can take the place of bread but nothing can fully take the place of fresh milk.

Briefly, in "Choosing Foods Wisely" you may be assured that if you choose first milk and the other dairy products you will not only be safeguarding the family health and well being but also the family budget, for milk does more for the body and does it more cheaply than any other food, and thus is indispensable not only in the diet of the child but also the adult.

Wilmot Market Broken Into; $50 Loot Taken

Bernhoft Funeral Held at M. E. Church; Crowd Attends

The Walter Kohn market was burglarized Wednesday night and about fifty dollars worth of hams, tobacco, bacon, cigars and other staple articles taken. Entrance was made through a rear door from which a pane of glass had been removed. The same night Herman Fiegl lost between thirty and forty chickens. No trace of the robbers in either case has been discovered.

Funeral services for Mrs. William Bernhoft of Cable Wis. were held at the Wilmot M. E. church at 2:30 Sunday afternoon and were very largely attended. Burial was in the family plot of the Wilmot cemetery. All-Mash Feeds for Backyard Flocks

WITH ALL MASH Method FILL Only Twice a Week ELIMINATING

SCATTERING OF SCRATCH

FILLING GRIT HOPPER

CARRYING OYSTER SHELLS

The ALL MASH METHOD PROVIDES EVERY FEEDING NEED

A proven convenience in Poultry Raising

The use of an all-mash ration enables the man with a backyard flock to reduce materially the bother and expense of caring for his birds, according to the poultry experts in charge of the Purina Mills Poultry

Farms at Grays Summit, Missouri.

With the all-mash method, the hens are not required to pick a part of their feed from among the dirt or litter on the floor or from soil contaminated with diseases and parasites. Besides reducing the labor and time required, less experience is necessary with this method, making it especially adapted for use by beginners. There is no guess-work as to the proportions of scratch grain the hens are receiving. The feed combination eaten by each hen is definitely controlled and is uniform, making for uniformity in the eggs produced. The third, as well as the busy hens, get their fill of a completely balanced ration, and the

GREEN FEED (UNNECESSARY)

mobbing usually prevalent when scratch grain is fed is avoided.

Seeking to find a ration that would produce eggs of uniformly better shell strength, firmness of white and yolk, flavor and food value than ordinary fresh eggs, as well as maintain production and the health and vitality of the birds, the Research Division of the Purina Mills Experiment Farm spent five and one-half years, feeding and checking results on more than 3500

hens. In an investigation of efficiency of all-mash rations. This research enabled their scientists to recommend a new all-mash formula for poultry raisers. How these men weighed and calculated these results of their hundreds of trials is a story worthy of a

Paul de Klint, author of "Hunger Fighters," the book that attracted world wide attention because of its recognition of the patience and undering efforts of scientific men.

HintsRules of Propriety for Presiding
Over Dinner Table Are ArbitraryComfort of Guest Is Main Consideration to Guide Hostess

Perhaps nothing calls for more polite or talent in the hostess than presiding over her own dinner table when there are a number of guests—or it may be her breakfast or luncheon table.

A meal which is served with ease and grace and with consideration for the comfort of those being served, will give the home of the hostess an impeccable reputation for skill in the art of entertaining.

The etiquette and rules of propriety which govern the accepted mode of serving a dinner or luncheon or breakfast, are not intended as military regulations to harass the hostess; they are really nothing more than arbitrary suggestions to make serving convenient and graceful. Service which is quiet, orderly, and performed smoothly, requires system to keep it from becoming haphazard.

In all her duties, a hostess should remember that the comfort of her guest comes before all else, and after that has been secured, her next concern is the dignity and grace of her offering of hospitality. The following suggestions will be found helpful.

At Right of Host

When entertaining guests at dinner or any meal, the woman guest who claims the most distinction, whether because of age or position or for some other reason, is always seated at the right of the host. Likewise, the most distinguished guest among the men, is seated at the left of the hostess.

In serving, plates should be placed before the hostess first. There are some authorities who take exception to this rule, but its origin was based on the fact that the hostess should first have the opportunity to examine and, if necessary, sample the food to make sure that it is edible for her guests. This rule should be adhered to when the host serves, and when the plates are being passed by a servant. Obviously, if the hostess herself is doing the serving, it is rather absurd to serve her place first.

In case the hostess is not the first served, the guest at the host's right is first. In any case, she is always served before everyone with the exception of the hostess. When an entirely feminine gathering comprises the dinner or luncheon guests, the serving should be done from the hostess' right and then on around the table.

Traditions of correct table service require that the cover or place set for each guest, never be placed until after the main course is served. In other words, there must always be a plate before the guest until the main course is cleared away. This plate which remains at the place from the first course, until it is replaced by the main course plate, is called the service plate. Whatever is served the guest from the first course until the removal of the service plate, is placed on the plate and then removed from it.

Responsible for Guests' Comfort.
The hostess' duties are not limited to planning a meal and serving, or having it served properly. She is responsible for the comfort of each guest throughout the meal. The skilled hostess will be able to immediately start the conversation along channels which will lead to a natural and more or less continuous conversation. The novice, as a rule, tries several subjects before she launches her party on an easy and entertaining conversational voyage. With a group of guests who are not well acquainted, at a large party, and at very formal dinners, the task of launching the conversation requires more than ordinary skill.

Choosing Topics.
The wise hostess will single out topics which have a particular interest for the more shy and quiet guests. If a number of intimate friends are present, she will avoid conversations which will exclude those outside this group. Nothing is more annoying nor more boring than to be with people anywhere who continue their remarks entirely to people and places and incidents of which we have no knowledge. This type of conversation is excusable only at reunions and where everyone is included in the remarks.

The hostess must also avoid reference to any topic which has any tendency to bring associations which are unpleasant when eating. Some persons are extremely squeamish about table conversation, and while such squeamishness is at times unparadoxically extreme, the hostess must have consideration for the shortcomings of her guests.

If a woman guest arrives late at a dinner, both the host and hostess rise from their places to welcome her and the host sees that she is seated. If a gentleman is late, the hostess need not rise. It is always permissible for the hostess to seat her guests fifteen

SUNDAY DINNER
SUGGESTIONS

By ANN PAGE

If you take all the advice about planning, low-cost meals that is being printed and published for the benefit of the American housewife this season, you will find that it centers down to one simple statement: buy the foods that are most plentiful and therefore lowest in cost.

This week, for example, devotees of Sunday dinners that are appetizing and yet inexpensive, will concentrate on such abundant vegetables as potatoes, (new potatoes are quite plentiful now) onions, cabbage, carrots, beans, string beans and celery; such meats as roast beef and frank steaks; and chicken. Halibut is a good fish choice.

Remember that condiments such as ketchup and chili sauce add zest to meat.

Here are three Sunday dinner menus planned by The Quaker Maid Kitchen. They are well balanced and take advantage of the most economical foods this week.

Low Cost Dinner

Roast Shoulder of Pork
With Apple Sauce
Creamed Cabbage
Dried Potatoes
Dress and Butter
Tapioca Cream
Milk
Coffee

Medium Cost Dinner

Roast Beef with Onions and Potatoes
Spinach
Chili Sauce or Ketchup

Pineapple Fritters

Milk

minutes after the time set for the meal. Waiting later, often means that the entire meal is ruined, and a guest whose arrival is delayed more than a quarter of an hour, whether excusably or not, will, in most cases, prefer that the others eat rather than wait.

No two persons eat at the same speed, and while good manners require food to be eaten slowly, there are always some persons at a dinner table who eat more slowly than the others. It is the duty of the hostess to appear to be eating, until every guest has obviously finished the course. Otherwise the guest who eats slowly becomes uncomfortable and feels that he is delaying the dinner.

Must Be Observant

The hostess who will keep her guests at their ease must be observant. The accidental happenings which can cause actual misery as well as embarrassment to the guest are dreaded by all hostesses for they require a vast amount of tact to be satisfactorily smoothed out. When a guest breaks a dish, spills food, drops silver, or knocks over his neighbor's water tumbler—and such things happen to the most poised guests, perhaps once in a lifetime—the hostess should strive to detract the attention of the other guests from the blunder and at the same time convince him that the accident is of no importance.

The well versed hostess in giving dinners will always remember:

1. That while an immense floral centerpiece on the table may persuade her guests that the depression has not deflated her purse, it will not increase their enjoyment, for most of us like to look across the table and see with whom we are dining.

2. That leaving some of the serving dishes containing food from the course before on the table may bear testimony to the abundance of the board, but at the same time it will detract from the next course. Remove the dishes of food first from the table and then the individual plates.

3. That the hostess who monopolizes the conversation and discourses at great length with great wit, may win a reputation as an entertainer, but never as a hostess.

4. That presiding over a dinner table is an art which requires tact and talent and experience.

These rules, it must be emphasized are arbitrary, to be changed, improved upon and remodeled at the discretion of the hostess. So long as you place the comfort of your guest as your criterion, you will be a successful hostess.

White Becomes Popular
For Interior Decorating

White has become increasingly popular this year as a color for interior decorating. Furniture houses are showing household articles, from lamps to leather upholstered davenport, in white. The color is a most effective contrast for certain types of rooms where simplicity is the keynote and the room does not bear dramatic effects. In the ordinary room, it is best to confine the white to lamps, vases and other articles of decoration.

Parents Will Know
Children Through Family Pleasures

Few parents ever take time to learn that their children are persons like themselves. When Joan and Harry were babies, they were soft, adorable little animals to be petted and cared for. In those days, one did not worry much about their individualities. But now that they are definitely persons with their own individual traits, they are as much separated from their parents as though they were strangers.

Parents who overlook the opportunity of becoming acquainted with their children are willingly forfeiting one of the pleasures of having children. It is the parents who must make the opportunities for becoming acquainted, but the children will respond.

The homes in which family gatherings are a habit and even a tradition, are the homes in which one finds the closest bond of sympathy. Setting aside a certain day or evening for family festivities is a good plan. Some families always spend their Sundays together. Sunday is an excellent day for parents to choose, for it is usually a dull day for children. Plan activities which will really interest the children for family days. Outings in the woods are perhaps the best suggestion. On special occasions, short trip of interest may be planned.

"Family day" will not be a success if the parents approach it from the angle of a rest day for themselves which must be undisturbed by the children. A day of "don'ts" is wearing for the children as well as the adults.

Try to be wholeheartedly interested in something which will interest your child; cooking food over a campfire; identifying trees and flowers and birds; learning water stunts if you go swimming with your children. Learning to play with your children will have a threefold result—you will understand one another better, you will learn to play, and your child will learn much about playing from you.

CHOOSING FOODS WISELY

By ADELAIDE SPOHN, Ph. D.

Nutritionist of the Elizabeth McCormick Memorial Fund and Director of Nutrition Service, Illinois Emergency Relief Commission.

Feeding Your Family on
Ten Dollars a Week

The responsibility of maintaining the family's health and well being has always been the duty of the wife and mother. Today this obligation is more important and more difficult than it has ever been before. It is more important because most families are under an extra strain at present and require all the vitality that good health can give them, and it is more difficult because with changing economic standards most incomes have been suddenly diminished, necessitating a readjustment of food expenditures. To help housewives in making this readjustment, without sacrificing either the palatability, economy, or nutritive value of their meals, I am presenting to you a week's menu which will feed a family of five on ten dollars a week.

Each day's meals contain the nutritional essentials of an adequate diet: proteins, carbohydrates, fats, minerals and vitamins in the proper proportions. Four quarts (16 glasses) of milk are included each day. Since each child ought to have a quart a day, a glass is allowed for each meal which accounts for nine glasses. The remaining five glasses are used in cooking and as a beverage for the adults.

Borders Being Used
For Papered Walls

Something new in wallpapers, which is at the same time something old, are the borders suddenly re-introduced into use. The border adds a decorative note to the wallpaper which is particularly attractive in high ceilings rooms. Rooms which are low ceilings will seldom look so well with the border as without, unless an extremely inconspicuous border is used.

Wash Powder Puff
For Clean, Healthy Skin

Powder puffs which have been washed are excellent for powdering. Care should be taken to wash them thoroughly in soap suds and hot water, rinsing thoroughly. The powder puff should be washed at least once a week, for it takes up oil and excretions from the skin. The woman who has trouble with her skin will find that she will benefit from taking care not to let anything unclean touch the face. An attractive skin is always a clean, healthy skin.
